Manager's Report

The UK stock market enjoyed a buoyant six months, with the FTSE All-Share Index rising by 8.5% despite growing concerns over both the financial health of the UK consumer and the impact of global events. Indeed, UK equities registered their strongest December performance since 1993, a year in which the UK was also emerging from recession, but more surprising this time given the growing uncertainty about UK economic conditions. Events at the beginning of 2011 shook positive market sentiment as concerns increased due to political turmoil in the Middle East and its impact on oil prices, the latest round of the eurozone debt crisis and the impact of the earthquake in Japan. March was Budget month in the UK, but the performance of the stock market was very much driven by events on the international stage rather than by the Chancellor's speech.

Monetary stimuli on both sides of the Atlantic undoubtedly played a large part in the rise of equity markets. UK interest rates remained at 0.5%, although inflation remained high over the period and well above the Bank of England's 2% target. Concerns grew that interest rates would be rising sooner rather than later; these were assuaged by minutes from the Bank of England's March meeting showing no new support for an increase, despite the Bank warning that inflation was likely to remain above its target for the remainder of the year.

Corporate news flow over the six months reflected the worsening state of the UK consumer economy. Sainsbury's announced its lowest sales growth figures for six years in March, while news from the non food retailers was significantly worse, with poor trading statements from a number of high street retailers.

The Manager maintains a cautious stance on the outlook for the UK economy, believing that a number of headwinds persist; the full extent of public spending cuts have yet to be felt, the squeeze on household incomes will continue, and although the manufacturing side of the economy is benefiting from the strength of overseas markets, it is doubtful this can fully compensate for weaknesses in other areas of the economy.

Portfolio Strategy & Review

The Company's net asset value, including reinvested dividends, rose by 7.6% during the 6 months to the end of March 2011, compared to a rise of 8.5% from the FTSE All-Share Index (total returns).

Disappointingly, the Company's return was marginally behind the index over the period. A negative impact on the Company's performance came from supermarket group Tesco, where investors' concerns over the health of the UK consumer and confirmation of tough trading conditions across the sector outweighed the impetus the group should gain from its growing overseas exposure.

Another large company to disappoint over the 6 months was AstraZeneca, despite some improving news on patent disputes. The Manager believes the market to be focusing only on the challenges facing the pharmaceutical sector, which are well known and well rehearsed, and not on the opportunities the sector offers. These come in both the emerging world, where there is major under-provision of drugs, and in the developed world, where ageing demographics are driving increased demand for drugs.

Shares in Yell Group continued to suffer as a result of the underperformance of its directory business, and on continued speculation concerning its long-term future. The Manager remains cautiously optimistic as a result of the new strategy to migrate more of Yell's business online. Elsewhere in the Company's portfolio, Rentokil Initial's share price struggled as investors focused on problems in its parcel division, City Link.

The most significant positive contribution over the period came from the holding in BG Group; good full year results were accompanied by news of further Brazilian oil discoveries while the company is a likely beneficiary of an increasingly positive outlook for gas demand.

The performance of the Company benefited from its holdings in the telecommunications sector. BT Group confirmed both its ability to produce double digit growth in earnings and an improving free cash flow outlook, while Vodafone saw its shares rise on the news that AT&T was to buy T-Mobile from Deutsche Telekom; the price agreed highlighted the value within the mobile telecoms sector.

The Company's investment in Balfour Beatty provided further positive input to performance. Last December the company announced that it planned to sell off over £200 million of assets and also it would move to a more progressive dividend policy; the company's shares rose in price by over 30%.

In terms of portfolio activity, a number of new holdings were introduced to the portfolio. These comprised both larger companies, including Roche and Daily Mail & General Trust, along with some less well known businesses, including N. Brown, Amlin and HaloSource.

The holdings in speciality pharmaceuticals businesses BTG and Biocompatibles were merged following the announcement that the former was acquiring the latter.

The Company further reduced its exposure to the utilities sector over the six months, disposing of the holding in Northumbrian Water. The Manager is concerned that a more onerous UK regulatory outlook will hamper the companies' ability to generate adequate returns on equity while also seeing more attractive investment opportunities elsewhere.

Outlook

The Manager expects that the performance of the UK stock market will be more volatile over the next few months as the second round of Quantitative Easing, by the US monetary authorities, is wound up. This stimulus has undoubtedly been a contributing factor behind the strong rise in the stock market since last summer. Notwithstanding this recent good performance, the market still offers some areas of good opportunity to the long term investor.

The companies that populate the top half of the list of investments in the portfolio are extremely attractively valued, many of them have dividend yields substantially above their corporate bond yields. These companies are among the cheapest stocks in the market but ironically are also among the least risky. This confluence of low risk and low valuation is very unusual and has encouraged a shift to a more concentrated portfolio. The fund is increasingly exposed to a collection of high quality, large cap, geographically diversified and extremely well capitalised businesses.

The direction of the market over the near term may also become less certain as the outlook for corporate earnings is impacted by the persistently high oil price, the aftermath of the Japanese earthquake on the global supply chain and the economic effects of the sovereign debt problems in the eurozone. The Manager is reassured by the knowledge of the fundamental qualities of the portfolio's holdings being strong, reliable businesses, managed in the interests of their shareholders. It is worth remembering that the most under-rated virtue of stock market investing is patience, and that the market rarely recognises under valuation in the timeframe originally envisaged. However, the majority of the portfolio is still being valued by the market at a significant discount to its intrinsic value. The quality of the companies is demonstrable, it requires a degree of patience for the value to be realised.

The Directors also considered the revenue forecasts for the year and future dividend payments in concluding on the going concern basis.

NOTES TO THE CONDENSED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Accounting Policies

The condensed financial statements have been using the same accounting policies as those adopted in the annual financial report for the year ended 30 September 2010.

2. Forward Currency Contracts

The equity portfolio includes £14,151,000 (30 September 2010: £9,924,000; 31 March 2010: £9,205,000) of equities denominated in currencies other than pounds sterling. The investment management fee is charged 75% to capital and 25% to revenue; the performance fee is allocated wholly to capital.

No performance fee is provided for the six months ended 31 March 2011 and there was no performance fee provision as at 30 September 2010. No performance fee was paid for the calendar year ended 31 December 2010.

Tax

The tax effect of expenditure is allocated between capital and revenue on the same basis as the particular item to which it relates, using the Company's effective rate of tax for the accounting period.

5. Debenture Stock

The £5 million 10.25% and £3 million 11.375% Debenture Stocks were repaid in full on 1 October 2010, and cancelled.

Following the redemption of those two Debenture Stocks, the Company's structured debt is provided by 250,000 5% cumulative preference shares of £1 each, £7 million 7.75% Debenture Stock 2020 and £25 million 6.5% Debenture Stock 2023.
